GERMAN INDEMNITY SETTLEMENT MAY BE REACHED WITHOUT INVASION

German Offer Coming Nearer to Original Demand Made by the Allies—Three Notes From Berlin Being Sent to Washington—France Will Accept No Reduction.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Events appeared today to be moving swiftly toward a final settlement of the world-important German indemnity question.
Official reports from Berlin that Germany is offering the allies from 200,000,000,000 to 220,000,000,000 gold marks in principal, interest payments and goods in payment of her war indemnity during the next 42 years lessened today the possibility that the allied armies will advance from the Rhine next Sunday and occupy the Ruhr district.
In the absence of any official announcement contradictory reports were current concerning the proposals contained in the note which Berlin is sending to President Harding. In fact, one German newspaper stated, but without confirmation, that two notes and a third explanatory note were being transmitted to Washington.
The conference of Premier Lloyd-George and Premier Briand at Lympe, England, broke up today without any decisive decision being taken regarding new penalties upon Germany.
Opinion was expressed in French official circles that the German proposals will prove unacceptable. France is prepared for any eventuality. If Germany's final offer is rejected Marshal Foch will be fully prepared for swift military action at the end of the week. He will throw a ring of allied troops around a strip of German territory containing the richest coal mines and industrial belt in the country—a district that embraces a population of 4,000,000 souls.
The next definite development will be the publication of the German communication to President Harding and the attitude which Great Britain and France adopt toward the indemnity proposals contained therein.
Paris, April 25.—Final steps for the occupation of the Ruhr district by allied troops if Germany's new indemnity proposals prove unacceptable, were discussed by the French supreme war council this afternoon. President Millerand of France presided.
Marshal Foch presented detailed military plans showing how the allied forces will advance from the present zones of occupation on the Rhine and the districts that will be taken over by the various troop contingents.
There will be a council of ministers tonight when Premier Briand will make a report to his colleagues upon the result of his conferences with Premier Lloyd-George at Lympe. President Millerand will preside at this meeting also.
Although the exact indemnity proposals which Germany is making in her communication to President Harding are not known here, a feeling of pessimism prevails in some quarters. The opinion was expressed in official circles that the German proposals probably will prove unacceptable to France. If they are of such a nature that France cannot accept them the French government will be prepared for quick action.
France is leaving nothing to chance. Under the guidance of Marshal Foch her military strength has been apportioned in such a way that she can pressure upon Germany upon an hour's notice.

GERMANY'S LATEST INDEMNITY OFFER

Would Scale Down Original Bill by 20,000,000,000 Gold Marks and Extend Payment Over Forty-two Years.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, April 25.—Germany's latest indemnity offer, which is being made to the allies in a note sent to Washington, falls short 20,000,000,000 gold marks of the original amount demanded by the allies, according to information secured here today from an authoritative source. Germany is said to have offered a sum which, with interest, will aggregate 200,000,000,000 gold marks by the end of forty-two years, the time limit set by the entente.
Berlin, April 25.—All Germany today anxiously awaits the reception which the United States will give the latest indemnity proposals which were handed to the American commission last night for transmission to Washington. A meeting of the party leaders was held during the morning when the contents of the reparations note was communicated to them for the first time. It was declared on good authority that the offer of Germany goes far towards meeting the allies' demand for 220,000,000,000 gold marks which was levied at the Paris conference.
The note containing the German reparations proposals was handed to Secretary Wilson of the American mission at nine o'clock last night. The work of coding it was started immediately. Announcement was made that the note would be sent to Washington by Commissioner Ellis Loomis Brown in five sections.
The government issued an official statement containing only eleven words. It said:
"The cabinet has unanimously adopted the final text of the reply."
According to the Lokal Anzeiger the members of the cabinet had a difficult time reaching a decision on the contents and the text was not finally settled until a few hours before the document was turned over to the American mission.
The original plan was to hand the note to the American mission on Saturday night but the "industrialists" led by Hugo Stinnes and his associates objected so strenuously to some of the contents that there was a delay of twenty-four hours.
The so-called Stinnes group made an effort to hide their attempt to tamper with the document and the fact that the foreign minister was still in the city today.
Premier Minister Stinnes and Chancellor Brüning acted in accord and it was through their concerted effort that the agreement was finally reached.

CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS ENDS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Hythe, England, April 25.—The conference of Premier Lloyd-George and Premier Briand broke up today without either of the allied statesmen learning the contents of Germany's new indemnity proposals.
A brief meeting was held during the morning at which procedure was discussed for the meeting of the inter-allied supreme council next Saturday.
Premier Briand planned to sail from Folkestone at noon.
The premiers had been officially advised by Lord Aberdeen, the British ambassador to Germany, that the German government had transmitted new indemnity proposals to Washington, but apparently he did not know the contents for they were not communicated to the British and French statesmen.
It is possible that the United States will be represented informally at the meeting of the supreme council next Saturday although complications stand in the way of extending an invitation to Washington to participate by reason of the fact that the United States has not accepted the treaty of Versailles.
The eyes of the entente powers are turned anxiously upon Washington to see how President Harding accepts the latest German proposals. The view is taken that if President Harding decides to transmit the proposals to the allies, the United States may be put in the position of supporting the German suggestions as equitable.
On the other hand if President Harding and his advisors take the attitude that the German proposals do not form the basis for future negotiations on indemnity it is unlikely that they will be transmitted from Washington to London and Paris.
The developments of the present week will determine whether the allies will make good their threat to advance into Germany from the present zones of military occupation, occupying the Ruhr district. There are only five days remaining for a final decision. If the Germans have not satisfied the allies on indemnity by the end of this week the allied troops on the Rhine will again be in motion next Sunday.
A statement made by Premier Lloyd-George to the press correspondents Saturday night indicated that Great Britain and France have adopted a waiting policy for the time being. The premier was emphatic in making it plain that the conference which ended today was not called to formulate a decision, but to exchange views.

JAPAN OFFERS YAP COMPROMISE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Tokio, April 25.—The Japanese government, it was reliably reported today, has agreed to settle the controversy over the island of Yap upon the basis of the following compromise:
1.—The United States to recognize the validity of Japan's mandate over Yap Island.
2.—Japan to recognize America's cable rights.
The United States has laid claim to the cable station on Yap Island because it is only the direct line of communication between America and the Philippine Islands.
American commercial and military attaches have left for China, the headquarters of the new Siberian republic, to make complete investigation of the result of the republic's appeal to the United States for recognition.

NEW AUTOMOBILE LAW.

County Clerks Will Issue License Plates Next Year.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, April 25.—Receiving ten cents for every set of plates they hand out, county clerks will distribute next year's automobile license plates, except in Albany county and New York city, where the present automobile bureaus will be retained. All branch bureaus which have been acting as plate distributing agencies, including those in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton and elsewhere, will close the last of June, and the county clerks will take over the work. The plan is expected not only to relieve congestion and subsequent delay during the rush period, but also bring about a saving to the state.
County judges, as well as magistrates in first, second and third class cities, will have the power, from July 1, of suspending and revoking licenses of both automobilists and motorcyclists, guilty of reckless driving or other causes warranting such action. The power of restoring a license will rest in the hands of the newly created Tax Commission. By extending the power of suspension and revocation, it is expected that there will be a substantial check on careless driving, and that many licenses will be taken from offenders.
Hereafter the automobile year will coincide with the calendar year, except in the case of chauffeurs and operators who will be licensed from July to July, another scheme to relieve congestion. Copies of the motor vehicle booklet containing the new laws will be distributed by Secretary of State John J. Lyons about June 1.

FOR MURDER OF PARENTS

Indiana Man Goes On Trial For Horrible Crime.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Rensselaer, Ind., April 25.—Ralph Davis, 34, farmer, was to go on trial here today for the murder of his aged father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Davis. Their charred bodies were found in the ruins of their farm house at Enos, Ind., on January 21.
Citizens of two Indiana counties are sharply divided in their sentiment toward Davis and the trial has aroused unusual interest.
Davis, who is married and has two children lived on a farm adjoining that of his parents. He was treasurer of the Newton County Farm Bureau. He originally was arrested in a hotel in Chicago on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $1,450 of the funds of that organization. He declared he had taken the money to buy a prize bull.
After Davis' arrest in Chicago, it was learned that two secret indictments charging him with the murder of his parents had been voted against him. It was learned that the condition of the bodies of Davis' parents revealed that many bones had been broken and the head of Mrs. Davis was found 15 feet from where her body lay beside that of her husband. Although the fire is believed to have started while the aged couple were in bed, authorities said that both were found, after the fire, to have been fully dressed. Davis was said to have quarreled with his father because of the latter's refusal to help him out of financial difficulties.

American Influence in Berlin.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Manchester, England, April 25.—A group of American business men in Berlin, who were negotiating for raw materials and credits, persuaded Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, to appeal to President Harding to act as arbitrator between Germany and the allies on the matter of reparations, said a Berlin dispatch to the Guardian today. The dispatch added that the Americans assisted in drafting the German note. The American business men were said to have feared that further allied penalties would block trade.

Higher Cost of Marriage.

Under a bill passed by Governor Miller Saturday it will cost more to get permission to marry in this state hereafter. It is the Assembly Wheelock bill and provides that a city clerk shall charge two dollars instead of one for a marriage license. Each month the city or town clerk is required to remit one dollar of the amount to the county clerk or to the county treasurer.

PEOPLE SHOULD THINK OF ZONING

Public Meeting for Discussion and Comparing of Views Will Aid in Establishing Common Council to Act Intelligently.
The public meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock for the discussion of zoning is due to the belief of the common council, Mayor Canfield and the Chamber of Commerce that the people of Kingston should have every opportunity to become acquainted with the experience of other cities in regard to this exceedingly important subject.
To this end, Edwin A. Fisher, superintendent of city planning in Rochester, N. Y., will open the discussion. Mr. Fisher had charge of the designation of Use Districts in Rochester and since that has had the chief responsibility for the administration of the Rochester system.
The Chamber of Commerce is sending out today a letter to each of its members urging them to attend the public meeting on Wednesday evening and to bring others with them.
Secretary Hudson of the Chamber of Commerce, said this morning: "We find on all sides a growing interest in the subject of zoning. The matter of securing for Kingston a planned growth with the attendant protection of owners and occupants of property against the misuse of adjoining property is obviously one of great importance.
"With the gradual and steady return toward stable and prosperous business conditions, we all anticipate another decided forward movement in the development of Kingston.
"The experience of other cities seems to show that the growth of a city is greatly accelerated by the adoption of an adequate zoning ordinance making it possible to build on property with a knowledge that the structure erected is protected against loss of value arising from the improper use of adjoining property.
"Zoning is in reality an insurance against loss of property values. It is recognized as such by banks in cities having zoning regulations, such banks being willing to loan up to a larger percentage of the value of the property than they otherwise would.
"Both the Chamber of Commerce and city authorities feel that zoning so directly and vitally affects all the people of the city that full discussion ought to precede definite action.
"And if, after such discussion, public sentiment is favorable toward the adoption of a zoning ordinance, there will need to be a full participation of the public with probably a series of neighborhood hearings in order that the best possible form of ordinance may be worked out.
"The Chamber of Commerce is very anxious to have a full attendance of its members at the meeting Wednesday evening and to have each of its members act as an attendance committee of one to help secure a large attendance among the public at large."

Manipulates Dazzling Lights While Bandit Loots His Victims.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Jersey City, N. J., April 25.—New Jersey's newest auto highwayman using a pretty girl as his assistant, early today held up a party of automobilists near here and then easily outdistanced motorcycle police and a dozen pursuers in motor cars. The girl flashed a high powered searchlight in the faces of the robber's victims, blinding them while her male companion held them up. The loot amounted to $25. The robber used a red racing car, which, the police said, was the fastest machine they ever had seen.

ROBBERS ADOPT DAYLIGHT SAVING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 25.—A policeman was wounded and scores of pedestrians were thrown into panic by a bold daylight robbery of a United Cigar store in the Bronx today. The cigar store is at the bus test corner of the Bronx business district. There were three robbers in the party and all carried automatic pistols. After trussing up the clerks they carried one to the safe and compelled him to give the combination. While they were taking $800 from the safe a policeman looked in the door. He entered, drawing his revolver and all three of the robbers fired at him. One of the thieves left a cap behind him bearing the imprint of a Detroit, Mich., hatter. The three were swarthy in appearance and spoke with Italian accent.

No Cause of Action.

In an action brought to recover damages in $10,000 by a Poughkeepsie High School girl, Miss Ina Williams by her father as guardian, in the Supreme court in Dutchess county, against Alvah Rosa of New Paltz, the jury found no cause of action, as reported by the clerk of the court, this morning. The case was tried last week and the plaintiff charged Rosa with reckless and careless driving of his automobile on South avenue in Poughkeepsie in November last, and running her down as she was passing across the street on roller skates. The trial was completed at Friday noon. Samuel Brown of Poughkeepsie represented the plaintiff, and Judge Jenkins of Kingston, the defendant.

DEBATING TEAM LACKED PEP

Two to One Decision Gave Schenectady the Victory in Debate at the High School Saturday Evening.
Saturday evening in the high school auditorium, the Kingston High School Debating Team met defeat at the hands of the Schenectady High School team on the question, "Resolved, that the United States should maintain a navy at an effective strength equal at least to that of Great Britain."
Although the local boys had the same side of the question that they had when they defeated the Poughkeepsie high team, they lost out to the upstarts by a two to one decision. They had strengthened their arguments and had a much stronger refutation than in the previous contest, but they did not seem to be able to put the same pep in their speeches that they displayed before. This may have been due to the fact that they were giving their topics for a second time while their opponents had a new side of the question and the work was fresher in their minds. Despite the awarding of the decision to the visiting team, the local boys deserve much credit for their careful and painstaking work which they put on their preparation for the fray. They showed that they were good losers and as a person in the audience expressed it, "did not seem sore about it."
Schenectady's main points were on the uses of a navy in war, while the Maroon and White boys used as their method of attack, the uses of the navy as a surety of peace. This made it very hard for the local boys since they had cut out all of the parts about war and so they were debating somewhat in a handicapped manner.
It must be said that the question as to who the victors were was in doubt and it was only the verdict as given by the judges that finally decided the matter so that it was clear to everyone in the audience.
This is the first time in several years that Kingston High School has had a debating team strong enough to contest the upstate winner as a representative team from this section of the Hudson valley and they did some very commendable work. Although the Maroon and White team did not win the prize, they did make a name for themselves as representatives of the Kingston High School and the record of this team will go down in the annals of Kingston High School as one of note. Their defeat in the Poughkeepsie team was enough to make history for them.
The Kingston High School team was Arthur Flemming, leader, Edward Conway, James Carroll and Frederick Schroeder, alternate.
The Schenectady High School team was: Brown, leader, Peyle, Freidlander, Conners alternate.
Judges—The Rev. James, of Saugerties, Mr. Richards of Albany, and Mr. Hutchinson of Albany.

The St. Leo baseball team defeated the Union High Schoolers in a one-sided game in Port Ewen Sunday of the score of 15 to 1. The left wing of Williams was in shape as he put the Lions down with 11 clean strike outs. The Lions are good fellows, but good fellows are not always good players. The playing of both teams was good in the first inning. The batteries were, Port St. Leo, Williams, pitcher, Braces, catcher, for the Lions, Thomas, pitcher, Bradley, catcher. There was 4 strike outs. There were 400 attendees from Kingston. St. Leo would be glad to hear from any good team through their manager, Morris Egan, of Port Ewen.

Chief Richter is a former State Trooper. Some time ago Pardo was fined $25 being found guilty of running a disorderly house.

MEMORY CONTEST FINAL SCORES

With the following publication of the names and percentages of the fifty-five boys and girls of the graded schools who passed the final musical memory contest at the high school on Wednesday evening, with a mark of 90 per cent or more, we come to the finals of the contest.

Strange to say there are many boys and girls and many teachers as well who really missed the recitals after school hours that have been held for several weeks in preparation for the contest and in the morning realize that they have really greatly enjoyed listening to the music that they were to memorize.

Now that the work is all over, Miss Phillips has asked The Freeman, not only to publish these names but to publicly acknowledge with gratitude the splendid and faithful services of the many graded teachers who helped either in preparing for the contest or in examining the papers at the contest, as well as those high school teachers who assisted in the breaking of the contest examination of papers, making special mention of Principals Brooks and Van Valkenberg. Furthermore the public should know that the artistic floral decoration of the stage for the contest on Wednesday evening was the work of Miss Rosecrans of School No. 2 and Miss Glendenning of School No. 5.

Really the best part of all the preparatory work, the contest itself and the anti-climax of breaking eighteen ties, is that while the contest is a thing of the past, the musical memory developed may stretch on into a lifelong future happiness.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Chili sauce may be prepared any time during the year with a few canned tomatoes, adding such spices, chopped pepper and onions as suits the taste. When preparing catsup or chili sauce for winter in large quantities, put the tomatoes through the meat chopper and use the juice, canned, for soup.

The old can rubbers together in the form of a mat to use to save the enamel of the sink, when using dish pans and drainers. These mats are also good to use on ice to keep dishes from slipping.

Place small rings on the inside hem of the curtains in bedrooms, have small hooks on the side of the case; the curtains may be hung by the rings at night, securing better ventilation and saving the blowing of the curtains. These hooks and rings will be found useful to hang up the curtains when sweeping the room.

When bleaching clothes, as soon as dry turn the hose on them, then let the sun dry; the repeated wetting and drying will bleach cloth much sooner than the old manner.

Baskets and mats of sweet grass may be restored to fragrance by a quick dipping of the article into boiling water.

Wood, such as posts, stakes or trellises which must be driven into the ground, will last twice as long if the surface is charred by fire.

Make the candy for the children at home and save the price of one pound of candy, having three of home-made.

To Fill Cracks—Soak newspaper in a paste made by using one-half pound of flour, one-half pound of alum, and three quarts of water. Mix well and boil. It should be as thick as putty when it is ready to use. Force it into cracks in floors, wainscoting or other cracks. It hardens like paper mache and fills permanently any cracks.

After painting furniture white, rub it with powdered pumice stone, using a cloth dampened in water. The paint should be thoroughly dry and at least two coats. This gives a satin finish. Paint the bottom cellar stair white and thus avoid accidents.

Do you eat
H-O
HORNBY'S OATS
—or just oats?
The difference:
1. We steam-cook H-O, so you only have to cook it a few minutes.
2. Pan-toasting brings out an entirely different and delicious flavor, and gives it that rich, golden color.
3. It cooks up flaky—not sticky and pasty.
4. It comes to you clean and fresh, in an airtight Waxseal wrapper.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

TWO JUDGES NAME TWO COMMISSIONS

Each to Do the Same Work and Appellate Division Will be Asked to Determine Who's Who.

Papers filed in the Ulster county clerk's office on Saturday show that two sets of commissioners have been appointed to pass on the claim filed against the city of New York by the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company, through Clyde H. Proper, its receiver, and the appellate division of the supreme court. It is learned, still be asked to determine which set is "regular."

One set of commissioners, appointed by Judge Howard of Troy, is composed of Joseph D. Kelly of New York city, Claude B. Mayham of Schoharie and Patrick J. Shea of Troy, who were appointed originally by Judge Howard and recently were reappointed.

The other set of commissioners, appointed by Judge Hinman of Albany, is composed of Philip Elling of Kingston, chairman of the Republican county committee of Ulster county; Martin Saxe of New York city and Arden L. Norton of Cobleskill.

The commissioners appointed by Judge Hinman met at Albany on March 18, pursuant to the order signed by the judge, and organized. The Kelly-Mayham-Shea commission is directed under Judge Howard's order of reappointment to meet and organize in Kingston on April 26 (tomorrow).

The application to Judge Hinman for the appointment of commissioners was made by Mr. Proper, as receiver of the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company, who acted under the direction of the court which had appointed him. It was originally appointed Judge Nichols at Schoharie county special term of the supreme court in May, 1920, but Judge Nichols was in a hospital following an operation and the matter was transferred to Judge Hinman at Albany. The application to Judge Howard for the appointment of commissioners was made by the corporation counsel of the city of New York, on the petition of the board of water supply, and was heard by him at Troy on March 19 of this year, the day following that on which the commissioners appointed by Judge Hinman had met and organized at Albany.

The appeal by the city of New York from the order of Judge Hinman appointing Messrs. Elling, Saxe and Norton commissioners is taken on the ground that Judge Hinman had no authority to compel the city of New York, as a condition to correction of its mistake, to accept a new commission; that the Delaware and Eastern railway is a defunct corporation which has been out of existence since 1893; that it is the owner of only three parcels of land and that it did not have any right of way over any other parcels acquired by the city for the construction of the Schoharie reservoir.

When a petition and maps were filed to acquire lands needed for the Schoharie reservoir, three parcels of land owned by the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company, known as parcels No. 8, 168 and 214, were included. On the maps it was stated that for all parcels which were printed in pink, the city intended to acquire the fee; that for all parcels printed in blue, the city sought only an easement. The maps filed show that parcel No. 8 would be taken in fee, because it was printed in pink, but the petition stated that only an easement was to be acquired.

On the hearing before Judge Hinman, the city asked for leave to correct the petition, so as to show that the fee of parcel No. 8 was to be acquired, instead of an easement as stated. Judge Hinman imposed certain conditions on the city before permitting it to amend the petition.

The conflicting claims of the railway company and the city of New York bring up the history of development of railroads in Delaware and adjoining counties about fifteen to eighteen years ago. In reviewing this history, it should be remembered that the Delaware and Eastern Railway Company and the Delaware and Eastern Railroad Companies are different corporations, and that there is also in existence the Delaware and Northern Railroad Company, which operates the railroad running from Margaretville to East Branch.

The Delaware and Eastern Railroad Company was organized in 1904 to construct a railroad from East Branch to Andover, both terminals being in Delaware county, and two years later it gave a mortgage to the Empire Trust Company to secure the payment of one million dollars worth of bonds. In 1906 the Hancock & East Branch Railroad Company was organized to build a railroad between these places, and issued a mortgage for one million dollars. In July of the same year the Schoenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company was organized to build a railroad between these places.

Numerous changes took place the following year, 1907. The state railroad commission authorized the Schoenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company to issue a mortgage for $4,500,000. In May of that year the Schoenectady & Margaretville Railroad Company was authorized to issue a mortgage for $4,500,000.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 23.—The stock market opened strong today under the lead of the oil shares. They were influenced favorably by another advance of 25 cents a barrel for Pennsylvania crude oil. The steel issues also displayed strength, while the railroad groups dragged. U. S. Steel advanced 1/2 to 34 1/2. Mexican Petroleum opened 2 1/2 points higher at 154. Royal Dutch was 1/2 point up at 63 1/2. Sinclair oil was up 1/4 at 27 1/2. Crucible Steel rose 1 1/2 to 50 1/2. There was heavy trading in Pacific oil which advanced 1/2 to 33 1/2. General Asphalt made a gain of 1/2 to 69 1/2. Pittsburgh coal was in urgent demand, advancing 1 1/2 to 62. The marine issues were also in demand, Marine Preferred advancing 1 point to 53 1/2, and Atlantic Gulf moved up one point to 38. Retail stores were one of the active features advancing 1 1/2 to 52 1/2. Anaconda was a feature of the copper group, being heavily traded in and advancing to 40 1/2.

The most aggressive buying today was in the petroleum issues. Mexican Petroleum moving up 3 points to 154 1/2 and Pan-American Petroleum 1 1/2 to 74 1/2. Sinclair Oil, General Asphalt and other petroleum issues were in good demand, but met realizing sales which checked the upward movement. The steel industries were also active, United States steel moving up one point to 34 1/2 and Baldwin ranged from 88 1/2 to 90 1/2. The greatest gain in this group was in Crucible, which rose 4 points to 50 1/2. Sears Roebuck was one of the strongest features, advancing 3 points to 85 1/2. The motor stocks also made further substantial gains, Studebaker moving up 3 points to 89 1/2. Chandler motors also made a gain of 3 points, selling at 85 1/2. The railroad stocks had only narrow fluctuations, Reading yielding one point to 70 1/2 and Northern Pacific rose to 75 1/2.

The speculative interest was diverted to the railroad issues shortly after midday while the industrial and petroleum stocks were in decreased demand and sustained material recession. There was a good deal of conjecture about the position of the Burlington plan and many inquiries were made as to whether or not it has been approved by the interstate commerce commission. Northern Pacific moved up one point to 75 1/2 and Reading sold at 72 1/2.

Marine Workers Threaten Strike.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 23.—Negotiations between the Marine Engineers' Association and the American Shipowners' Association, relative to a new wage scale and working agreement, were broken off today. The shipowners' association charged that the engineers, by their attitude in demanding a continuance of present wages, were in effect working to break up the merchant marine of this country. The meeting, which was being held at the shipowners' headquarters, adjourned. Today's development brings substantially nearer a threatened strike, involving marine workers in both Atlantic and Pacific ocean routes.

Walkikil April 23.—Charles E. Thompson entered into eternal rest on April 14, 1921 after an illness of about ten hours. The last sacred rites were observed in the New Hurley Reformed Church on April 17, at 2:30 o'clock, in charge of the pastor, the Rev. G. B. Scholten. During the service Mrs. William Deissert, of Newburgh sang, "Sometime We'll Understand," and Charles Everett of New Hurley sang, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mr. Thompson was born on November 29, 1844 on the Thompson homestead, located near Plattkill, where he spent his entire quiet and unassuming life. He loved nature and the cultivation of the soil and his days were always filled with his ambitious endeavors for his family, his home and his community, even though his health was precarious. This condition seemed to add to his great love and sympathy for others, especially little children. Mr. Thompson was a member of the New Hurley Reformed Church in which he held office for many years. The churchy dance and reception will take place this evening at Emmanuel's Congregational school hall, Delaware avenue.

Month's Curves.
Study the curves of a new bold in place by a cord. It adheres to the rule, "Curves are the life of beauty." The curve, wherever found on the human body, is soft and tender. It seems to be the blessing of countless curves. So it is with the month. I have heard the month of a crowd, giving thanks described as being "the soft in a new world." I thought the phrase a very apt one.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cleanses the Mouth.
Canned tomatoes and fruit juices are splendid stimulants to the mucous membrane and salivary glands of the mouth, and the former is also a notable antiscorbutic when swallowed. Vinegar, produced from either wine or cider, when well diluted with water, is an excellent mouth and teeth cleaner. Tooth pastes and dentifrices are not as popular in Italy, Spain and France as in the United States, wine being preferred as a mouth lavage.

Lucky Marrying Days.
With the exception of the 27th day, March is said to be an unlucky month to be married in. In many countries Wednesday is said to be the luckiest day of the week to be married, and if the 27th day of March comes on Wednesday, the couple who are fortunate enough to be married on that day will be kind and loving to each other to the end. They will also acquire great wealth.

Rev. Dr. Clayton J. Potter.

DR. POTTER PLEASED.

Helpful and Impressive Sermon in First Dutch Church.

The Rev. Dr. Clayton J. Potter, who occupied the pulpit of the First Dutch Church on Sunday, delivered a most inspiring, helpful and impressive sermon to a large congregation in the morning. His theme was "A Life Without Inspiration." The Scripture reading was from the Gospels of Cain's slaying of Abel, and his subsequent repentance, and the parable of the Prodigal Son. Dr. Potter said that no life need be without inspiration. A man or woman might not perhaps in most instances be as happily situated and surrounded as they hoped and aspired to be, but nevertheless always even under the most adverse circumstances, their lot no matter what, could be elevated, lightened, made brighter by an inspiration to seek and to find the best that it afforded. Happiness came from within, not from without, and if the world at large would recognize this fact, much of the social unrest which now disturbed humanity would be lessened, although it was hardly probable it ever would cease. It was not possible for all of us to have all that we wished but upon the whole if we would but reflect we would realize that God in his providence had dealt fairly with us. Dr. Potter impressed on his congregation as being a typical Dutch dominion, of the best type, one of those who always will be welcome in the historic pulpit of the First Dutch.

HURLEY RELICS ON EXHIBITION

The New York Historical Society has received the large collection of Dutch household utensils and relics collected by George W. Nash of Hurley, Ulster county, N. Y., who spent many years gathering the objects. The collection consists of 332 items. The greater part of this collection is temporarily on exhibition in the basement of the society's building at Central Park West and Seventy-ninth street, says the New York Times.

The collection gives one an excellent idea of what an old Dutch household must have been like. There is a washtub more than three feet high which was hollowed out of the trunk of an apple tree. The old time Dutch people did not observe a weekly wash day, but washed the family linen when they felt like it. There is a large machine for grinding sausages, and another for stuffing them, the latter was known as a sausage gun. A trough made out of a hollowed out log was filled with fat and lean pieces of pork. Men stood before the trough and chopped the meat into fine pieces.

In the old days churches were cold places, and foot stoves were used by women in church. Several such stoves, which were filled with a pan of hot coals, are in the exhibit. Such a stove, if the sermon was not too long, gave enough heat to suffice for an ordinary service. The Dutch were great people for candles, and many interesting utensils for holding candles are to be seen. There are also curious lanterns of all kinds, not the least interesting of them being the kind of lantern that Paul Revere carried. Besides many cooking and household utensils are school desks and benches that children occupied, and a post office desk for mail.

There is a large loom, ten spinning wheels, ten candle reels, twelve candle molds and twenty-two shuttles for weaving carpets as well as models of old Dutch houses and taverns in Hurley, N. Y.

THE OLD BUSTY RIFLE.

5th Division Co. B. 107th I. S. Infantry.
A member of American Legion, Kingston Post 150.

When the funeral was over And the neighbors had departed The wife and children's mother Took the rifle in her hand Carried it with the trembling touch Of one quite broken-hearted And set it in the corner.

Near the queer, old fashioned stand The stand that held his likeness And a lonely lay or two. And when it came a little day And painted red and white and blue.

The rifle and a ready boy Had gone away together. The rifle—shining prophetic Of all that was to come. And the heart of him who bore it. Not light as any feather. When his home memories Came slyly creeping in. A thought of those who loved him, And pity for their dead. Of the battle of the battle That was waiting just ahead.

He fell across his rifle. And his life blood, shining brightly Stained its weapon and his comrades. When they found him he lay Marked his open knife beside him And his fingers resting lightly On the message of the rifle. To the mourners far away The message cut upon it Which he never had to trace. When he heard above the conflict, Death come riding on space.

Now once a year, in May time His father and his mother Make but a film of eating Their early morning meal. They sit in silence talking. I was, mostly at each other. I sustained to speak together. Of the differences they feel. But the names are dead. Have dimmed the latter of his eyes And he knows her face in pallid From the hurt of sacrifice.

And lower side by side they go. A silent widow by Sunday afternoon. Across the fields to seek the grave. Where on the mother lays her bones. The funeral procession And his wife, while the father pines. A prisoner that mentions all things Except their only son. And always grows weaned. At the words "The will be done."

Then the white and silent dawn. Backward moves a downy page. Not flowers at the coffin. Not flowers sharp and warning. That do in far off years. He who calmly joins his husband. But 9 in midnight raising. On an other woman's cheek. On the white of my eye. Lay an old and new one check!

"The Lyons Petroleum Co. of this city is one of the large producing and operating companies of the Oklahoma fields. In my opinion one of the things that favors the Lyons Petroleum Company is the fact that it is operating in the Oklahoma field which is one of the greatest producing areas in the world and which is showing continually increasing production."

DAYLIGHT TIME NOW IN EFFECT

Kingston adopted daylight saving time on Sunday and those who had taken the precaution to shove the hands of the clock ahead an hour before retiring for the night Saturday, experienced no trouble in adjusting themselves to the new time.

With an hour more of daylight assured it means that the Twilight Baseball League will be able to get underway the first of June as planned and already several teams have notified Director A. W. Buies of their intention of entering. The question of holding a league this summer was up in the air until the common council adopted daylight saving time.

Kingston residents by keeping in mind the fact that all trains run an hour later than daylight time will have no trouble in making train connections. It, for instance, the time table states the train leaves at 8 o'clock in the morning, that means 9 o'clock Kingston time.

Judging by the attendance at the churches Sunday morning churchgoers did not forget to move the clock's hands "Saturday night."

Webster's Place in History.
While acting as the organ of the government in foreign affairs Webster showed that his powers as a diplomatist were scarcely inferior to his legal and oratorical endowments, but it is as secretary of state that he is least thought of now. His country proudly thinks of him as one whose brain and voice did more to inspire Americanism than any other man between Washington and Lincoln; as the greatest Federalist since Hamilton; as the finest exponent of the Constitution since Marshall.

MIXED UP ON MAIN STREET.

Automobile and Trolley Car Try to Use Street Together.

A Hudson five passenger automobile, with New York license, No. 212,271 owned by a man named Warner of Ashbury Park, N. J., who has a summer home, "Red Top," near Highland, collided with trolley car, No. 10, of the Colonial division of the Kingston Consolidated railroad, about 3:45 o'clock Saturday on Main street. The automobile was being backed out of the Eagle garage with a young man at the wheel just as the trolley car with Richard Murphy as motorman came from Clinton avenue and the back end of the trolley car and the back end of the left hind and guard of the auto, came together. The weight of the trolley car forced the auto to the side of the track and the right hind wheel of the auto had its spokes broken out. The first large pane of glass in the trolley car was shattered by reason of the impact. Pieces of the glass flying over a couple of passengers, and a small strip of wood was torn out in the lower panel of the trolley car. Motorman Murphy said he did not see the auto backing out of the garage until the auto and his car hit each other as there were four or five autos parked from Clinton avenue alongside of the Kirkland on Main street to about the Eagle garage entrance from which the Hudson car was being backed.

Superstition Concerning Amethyst.

The pious crusaders who fought to gain the Holy Land for Christendom were amethysts to preserve them from harm. Thus used as an amulet it soon acquired the title of "the soldier's stone." The people of that period considered the gem a symbol of pure love or sincerity, employed it to express mourning and wore it when bearing petitions to the overlords. They also believed it capable of preventing the descent of hailstones and locusts.

PRODUCTION

ANTHRACITE:—Hard coal used, in its larger sizes, for domestic purposes. Nearly all newspaper articles on coal refer to bituminous (soft coal) used for steaming.

There is need, taking the year as a whole, for all hard coal the mines can produce. Their limit has about been reached.

It is plain then, if your requirements are to be met, the mines must operate this spring and summer. When mining conditions are best; transportation least liable to interference by weather; retail conditions most economical.

OTHERWISE: Shortage next fall and winter and high prices.

Oldsmobile

A Better Car from the Buyer's Angle

To build at a modest price, a four-cylinder car that would instantly be accepted as a better standard of quality and performance than in a car of this class, is the aim of the Oldsmobile team.

We may also say, now, the achievement. For its enthusiastic reception by the most thoughtful, proven how right your view in the idea and in its execution.

See this Oldsmobile. Ride in it. Drive it yourself. Try its speed and comfort on good or bad roads. Try its handling in the maze of the traffic—driving or parking.

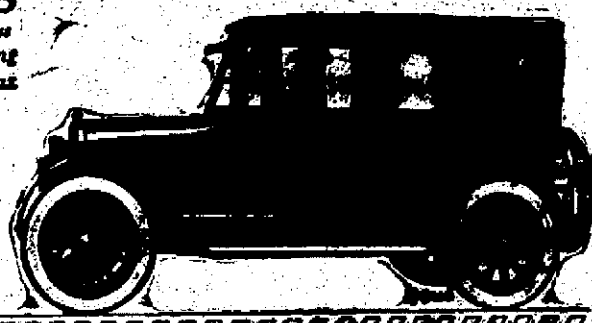

Note its characteristic Oldsmobile beauty—its pleasing lines, its sane design—its permanent style.

Had we a moment's doubt as to the outcome we could not so confidently invite your judgment of its superiority along such definite lines.

DEWITT OPERATED PRINTING PLANT

Has Been Transferred to New
$2,000,000 Corporation Which Publishes Many Popular Magazines.

One of the largest and most completely equipped printing establishments in the United States has been transferred by MacDonald DeWitt of No. 146 Nassau Street, New York City, formerly of Kingston, who has been operating it for some time, to The Conde Nast Press, Inc., a $2,000,000 corporation which has been organized to carry on the business.

The establishment is located on the Boston Post Road at Greenwich, Conn., and formerly was known as the Arbor Press. That company became insolvent and John B. Johnson of New York City was appointed receiver in equity. He sold the plant at public auction on February 25, when the entire property was bought in by Mr. DeWitt for $233,850, including existing encumbrances.

The Conde Nast Press, Inc., to which DeWitt has transferred the property, was organized to carry on the business of printing and publication. Conde Nast, publisher of the magazines "Vogue," "Vanity Fair" and "House and Garden," is financially interested and it is expected that all of Mr. Nast's publications as well as others will be printed at the plant in the near future.

The plant covers five acres of land and consists of a modern fireproof concrete one-story factory building, with a four-story tower; garage, outbuildings and a transformed house adaptable for any manufacturing purposes. The plant is equipped with one of the largest batteries of modern, up-to-date processes to be found in the United States.

For Finds Its Owner.

The tame fox found by children near the Everett & Treadwell wholesale house and taken care of by William H. Niles of Pearl Street, last week, belongs to Harry Banks, a furrier, who resides on St. James street. The fox is about four months old and being such a cunning one Mr. Banks decided to raise it for his children to play with instead of killing it for its skin and took it to his home, fastening it with a small chain. The fox pulled the fastened end of the chain loose and got away being found by children as the chain caught fast in a stone wall over which the fox had jumped.

A Surprise Tonight

If you will try this way to prettier teeth

This test will surprise and delight you. The results are so quick, so pleasing, so conspicuous.

Millions have already made it. The glistening teeth seen everywhere now show some benefits it brings.

Go get this free tube from your dealer. Use it and watch the effects. It will open up to you and yours a new era in teeth cleaning.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Many other serious troubles, local and internal, are now traced to them.

Countless people find that teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay. The main reason lies in that film.

Now we daily fight it

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to fight that film. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

These methods are combined in a modern dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions now employ it, largely by dental advice. The use is fast spreading the world over among those who know.

That is the tooth paste we ask you to try. Watch its effects on the film. See how your teeth improve. Then let your own good sense decide between old methods and the new.

How film ruins teeth

Film dims the teeth's luster. It also forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Three other essentials

Modern science also requires three other effects from a tooth paste. The old methods did not bring them. Pepsodent brings them all.

Pepsodent

The New-Day Dentifrice

Endorsed by authorities, advised by leading dentists everywhere, and supplied by all druggists in the large tubes.

This 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Present the coupon to any dealer named below.

Make this delightful test. Watch the quick effects—see the change in a week. Then you will realize what this new way means to you and yours.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids which cause decay.

Five important effects come from every application. And modern authorities deem all of them essential.

Not for women only

The most conspicuous effect is glistening teeth. Countless women employ it largely on that account. Few things add so much to beauty.

But men also want white teeth. Men who smoke find that teeth discolor quickly, due to stains in the film.

Pepsodent means more than this, however. It means cleaner, safer teeth. Children need it even more than others. Their teeth are easily attacked, and very few escape. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be used every day from the time the first tooth appears.

To all it means a new conception of clean, well-protected teeth.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film! See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

This test will prove a delightful revelation. To you and yours it may bring life-long benefits. Every day you wait may mean new damage. Cut out the coupon now. Present it this week at your store.

Good people everywhere, here you see Mrs. Norman Gurling and Dorothy Grace Gurling, of White Plains, N. Y. If you read newspapers you know about Mrs. Gurling. She is the heroic mother who, just a few days before Dorothy Grace was born, climbed twenty feet down a well to rescue her fifteen-month-old son, Norman, Jr., who had accidentally toppled in. The water in the well was twenty feet deep. Mrs. Gurling had to hold her breath in the sides of the well to hold her son, as she descended and ascended. She brought the boy up on her shoulders unharmed. She was rewarded. Because she's such a wonderfully good and brave mother, Dame Nature sent the dark clouds with Dorothy Grace, probably as a reward, and you may see for yourselves how happy Mrs. Gurling is now.

BAKU: OIL CITY OF THE CASPIAN

The recent outbreak of a revolt in Russia against the Bolshevik regime has opened up interesting questions of whether Baku, the great oil city of Asia, now surrounded by Bolshevik governments, will be once more thrown open to world commerce. This city is the heart of one of the world's greatest petroleum fields, has been practically bottled up since the fall of the Russian empire.

The city of Baku, built in the form of an amphitheater on the south side of the Apsheron peninsula, which juts far out into the Caspian sea, is the Tropic of the Slav domain. Two vast oil fields, containing more than 2,700 wells, make it the chief oil center of Europe. During the World war, had the Teutonic powers succeeded in reaching it before the British forces occupied it, the blow would have been even more serious to the allied cause than was the seizure of the Roumanian oil fields by the German army of occupation.

According to a census the year before the outbreak of the war, Baku was a city about the present size of Providence, R. I., Columbus, Ohio, or Louisville, Ky. It was the chief city of the Russian province of the same name, but in recent years the province has formed a government of its own under the name of the Republic of Azerbaijan. Baku is situated in the midst of an unattractive, treeless plain which stretches along the western shores of the Caspian. The Caspian is 84 feet below sea level, and Baku rises only 30 feet above the great inland sea, so that it is more than 50 feet below the ocean level.

Many centuries ago the Persian fire worshippers discovered that the natural gases issuing from fissures in the rocks near Baku would burn, and there may be seen, a few miles from the city, the remains of one of their ancient temples.

The upper part of the city, corresponding to the back rows of an amphitheater, is the picturesque Tatar quarter, with its many narrow lanes and oriental bazaars. A fifteenth-century palace of the khans is in a very dilapidated condition, and has been used for many years by the Russians as a military magazine. The most characteristic structure in the town is the massive Kiz Kala, or Maiden's Tower, which rises to a height of 147 feet and which is now used as a lighthouse. It dates from the Byzantine period.

Four fifths of all the oil produced in the Russian empire comes from the Baku fields. The high-water-mark of production was reached in 1902 when the output of the district was nearly ten million tons of crude petroleum. In 1906, however, there was a disastrous fire which considerably curtailed production for a time. The latest authentic figures on production are those for 1915 when a little more than seven million tons was produced. Much of the output of the wells, which vary in depth from 500 to 2,000 feet, was transported by pipe line to Batum on the Black sea, but Baku is also connected by rail with this seaport as well as with Rostov-on-the-Don.

In addition to its oil interest, Baku had drydocks, flour mills, sulphuric acid works and tobacco factories. It was the chief entrepot for raw cotton, silk, fruits, dried fish, wines and rice produced in Persia and the Transcaucasian territory.

The town derives its name from the quails (badkue) which are frequently very violent on this part of the Caspian coast.

A ROMANCE OF BANANAS AND COFFEE

When the American small boy eats his daily quota of bananas, and when his father and mother sip their breakfast, luncheon, or dinner coffee, they are making important contributions to the prosperity of fellow Americans of whom they know very little—the residents of the free Central American republics which have lately reached a preliminary decision for the formation of a sort of "United States of Central America."

Central America illustrates strikingly the effects of geographic factors on a region's development. All the five republics lie on the relatively narrow isthmus between the narrow ribbon of Panama on the south and Mexico on the north. The Spanish settlements made soon after the discovery of America were all on the Pacific side of the isthmus, for the most part on the plateau and mountain slopes and in the mountain valleys of that region, which prosper on otherwise unpropitious climate. Practically the entire Atlantic side of the isthmus was a low plain, covered with a dense jungle.

At the time of the throwing off of the Spanish yoke in 1821, the Central American provinces were an administrative unit off from the United States as if they had been away thousands of miles away instead of being only across the Caribbean sea. With the settlement of the Pacific coast of the United States, the building of the Panama railroad, and later the construction of a trans-Mexican railway, the Panama canal, and railways across Guatemala and Costa Rica, Central America has become easily accessible.

Shortly before the construction of the Panama railroad, coffee was introduced into Central America from the West Indies, and was found to grow to perfection in the lava soil on the slopes of the volcanic mountains along the Pacific coast of most of the region. Coffee soon became an export of prime importance and has brought much money into Central America.

The remainder of Central America's horticultural romance has as its motif, the banana. In order that the great American hunger for that slender golden fruit might be appeased, large fruit growing and distributing corporations from the United States acquired extensive tracts of land in the Atlantic plain, reclaimed it from the jungle, and planted great banana groves which produce millions of bunches of bananas yearly.

The by-products of this development have been as valuable to Central America as the money that has flowed directly to laborers and to the government. Important cities have sprung up along the Atlantic coast, railroads have been built, and what is probably most important of all, lines of fast, well-equipped steamers, carrying both passengers and freight have been established between the Atlantic ports and those of the United States. In effect the banana has shifted Central America thousands of miles closer to the outside world.

BATTLEGROUND AND PLAYGROUND

The Crimea was the scene of one of the latest anti-Bolshevik military efforts from outside Russia to win back a part of that old empire. This expedition, under General Wrangel met disaster as had similar forces launched against the soviet father north, and the Crimea was overrun by the Bolsheviks.

The Crimean peninsula in which this encounter took place is a land which has aspects known to every school child. It is the land of the Cimmerians about whom Homer sang in the "Odyssey" and from whom the peninsula takes its name; the land of the Crimean war, the siege of Sevastopol, and the "Charge of the Light Brigade"; the land in which Florence Nightingale first caused efficient, ordered mercy to have a part in war.

The Crimea is known as "The Little Paradise" to the Tatars, last of the many races to overrun the peninsula before the land fell under the sway of the Muscovite. A traveler journeying from the North is likely to accept this appellation, if at all, with a strong mental reservation as he crosses the almost desert-like plains of northern Crimea; but once over the mountains that rim the southern shore he will approve the description with enthusiasm. There, nature has made a wonderful garden spot, the Riviera of Russia, a combination of sea, mountains and riotous verdure that really vies with its famed Italian counterpart in the days when Czarhood was in flower.

Though a part of what has come to be looked upon as "cold Russia," the southern shore of the Crimea brought to the old empire a touch of the tropics. On the mountain slopes and in the sheltered valleys grow grapes, figs, olives, and all the tender fruits: magnolias, lilies, and myrtles; and a profusion of wild flowers and grasses. That the delights of its mild climate were discovered early is testified by the ruins of Greek, Byzantine, and Italian architecture which are to be found among the mosques of the later Tatars, the palaces of the Russian imperial family and nobility, and the magnificent modern hotels of the pleasure towns to which the prosperous classes of Russia flocked before the World war. Yalta, in these care-free days, was Russia's Nice, Newport, and Miami rolled into one; its cafe and casino life was as hectic, gay, and expensive as that to be found in any of the world's pre-war playgrounds.

The Crimea is a peninsula that barely escaped being an island. It juts from the mainland of South Russia down into the Black sea. Like a gigantic watch fob shaped like a bowler, it is attached by the narrow ribbon of the isthmus of Perekop, a strip of land only three-quarters of a mile wide and only a few feet above sea level. On one side is the Black sea and on the other the stagnant, shallow, malarious waters of the Sivirch, or Putilid sea, a lagoon of the Sea of Azov. This is the only unbroken natural land connection between the mainland and the Crimea, but a few miles to the east a narrow part of the Putilid sea has been bridged by the railroad which enters the peninsula.

The greatest width of the Crimea north and south is 115 miles, and its greatest length from "head" to "tail" is 225 miles. It contains about 3,700 square miles, and is thus approximately the size of the state of Vermont or the island of Sicily. Before the World war its population was 2,000,000.

The Crimea was conquered by Catherine the Great of Russia in 1772, and remained a part of the Russian empire until that political entity's collapse in 1917. The bulk of the population remains Tatar, though there is an admixture of both Greek and Italian blood in the numerous Tatar people.

IN TURKEY REFORM SPRINGS ETERNAL

Turkey bids fair to "come back," in a limited sense at least, as a result of the proposed revision of the Sèvres treaty that dismantled the Ottoman empire after the World war. It will be a changed Turkey, to be sure, but change is not new in the country that inherited Mohammed's religious empire. Paradoxically, Turkey, though it has a tradition of national inertia, also is a land of kaleidoscopic reform, and may be said to react to reforms more discriminately than any other country in or out of Christendom. The Turks have adopted some reforms bodily and some partially, and have rejected others flatly even when the prestige of the Caliph and Allah's ministers was behind them.

Turkey began its existence on a foundation of reform, the empire inheriting the comprehensive reshaping of the religious and social world instituted by Mohammed. It "went dry" just 620 years before the United States, for its "eighteenth amendment" was not an amendment at all, but a part, so to speak, of the organic act when the empire came into existence in 1290.

Even in the matter of polygamy, looked at askance by the western world, Mohammed and the government which took up his mantle were reformers. The legal maximum number of wives was placed at four.

Even the jokes of coffee and tobacco prohibition that have gone the rounds of the American vaudeville stage came near being a reality in Turkey. Mohammedan scholars fulminated against the steaming cup, and one sultan went so far as to prohibit the use of tobacco, fearing that it was taking too firm a hold on his people. But the populace refused to have the prophet's covenant changed and the ban was raised.

Though the reported passing of the fez is looked upon as a reform which to western eyes would remove something as distinctively Turkish as the star and crescent, the introduction of the gaudy skull cap was itself a reform effected less than a hundred years ago; and staunch old Moslems of that time wagged their heads in warning as the reckless reformers cast aside their dignified turbans for the new bauble. To the Turkish Tories of those days the fez traveled in company sufficiently disreputable to damn it utterly. It was introduced forcibly into the army by the Sultan Mahmoud II in the early part of the nineteenth century along with tight European trousers and frock coats.

The fez and turban types of head coverings have a definite reason for existence in Turkey, and it is to be doubted that they will be discarded entirely, especially for the brimmed hats and visored caps of Europeans. Mohammedan rule and customs call for covered heads at prayer; and they also require that at one stage of prayer or the votary shall touch his nose and forehead to the ground, a feat that is impossible if he wears a hat with a protruding brim.

PACIFIC ISLAND GARDEN SPOT

With the shifting of ownership that has taken place among the islands of the Pacific and the growing importance of that great body of water in international affairs, the holdings of the various nations in the Pacific are taking on new value. One of the most important of the French Pacific possessions is Tahiti, or the Society Islands, with steamship connection to San Francisco and New Zealand. They are described in the following communication to the National Geographic society from H. W. Smith:

"Like the Samoans, the Society Islands are of volcanic origin, rising from the low bed of the ocean, which has depths near the islands of 1,500 to 12,000 feet, while the highest peak, in the center of the island of Tahiti, reaches an altitude of 7,300 feet."

"Near Papeete the beautiful Fatoua valley may be visited in an afternoon. For a good part of the way a carriage road leads up the valley, offering changing vistas."

"Why, indeed, should the Tahitian toll? There are great leaves of the wild taro growing by the roadside; the young leaves are delicious boiled, and the curious stranger will find many other new delicacies of the table—the alligator pear, the baked papaya, the Mantis crab, the raw fish, as good as the best oyster."

"In Tahiti, as well as in most of the South Sea Islands, great numbers of coconuts are grown. The meat, after being dried into copra, is shipped in large quantities to Europe. We were much interested in the different methods of gathering the nuts in various islands. In Tahiti the natives climb the trees with the help of a strip of green, fibrous bark torn off the stem of a hibiscus tree. After knotting the two ends together, the climber slips his feet half through the circle, and standing with his legs apart, so as to stretch the thong tight, ascends the tree in a series of leaps, with a foot on each side of the trunk."

"In its fresh, green state the coconut provides a most refreshing drink, but as it grows older the milk hardens and forms the white inner rind with which we are all familiar. When dried this is the celebrated copra and is commercially put to many different uses. In Tahiti it is used for saucers and for coconut oil. One sauce, which was served with fish, at a very enjoyable picnic, although compounded of scraped nut and sea-water, was palatable."

TUESDAY—"THE HOPE"

By Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton

Though it cut her to the quick, Brenda could not but believe the evidence that the man she loved was untrue—had even wronged another girl, her best friend. He was innocent, but how could he prove it?

This is but one of the many lightening-quick changes of fortune that overtake the characters in this great melodrama.

Help!

Nanette saw the violator creeping towards her, leering, crafty, powerful. At her call a door crashed in and the cabin thundered with the roar of fight as Neewa, the bear, and Brimstone, the dog, plunged to the aid of the girl—and the man went down beneath the ripping, roaring, twisting, crunching fury of their jaws!

That Fight's a Thrill That Wasn't Equalled even in "Back to God's Country" and a score of other scenes are just as big.

Roaring Rivers and Fire-Girl Forests—real men and splendid women—beasts of play and beasts of prey. They startle and delight you as only one other backwoods drama ever did.

Leon Chaney, Lewis Stone, Betty Blythe and a Big Cast in

NOMADS OF THE NORTH

from the novel by

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

And what a story!

Picture it! Raoul Chalonier with his wife, Nanette, and her baby lost to the world in their little cabin in God's Great Wilderness—happy in their hiding place from law's injustice, their only friends a big black bear and a wolf-dog. Then comes O'Connor of the Northwest Mounted to take them back. And as man and wife and child, bear and dog, start down on the trail that leads straight to the gallows their whole wide world bursts into flame. A forest fire so real that it staggers you! A battle through so fierce that it awes you. And a finish so fine that you'll cheer it!

You'll have to come early if you want to get in.

See these wild animals in action! Something else to make you remember "Nomads of the North."

BLOODY WEEK END IN IRELAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, April 23.—While his wife and ten children knelt outside of the jail walls sobbing and praying, Thomas Traynor, a Sinn Feiner, was executed at Mount Joy prison this morning. Traynor was hanged. As the execution bell rang in the prison yard the great crowd which had gathered outside fell upon its knees and the cries and lamentations filled the air. Traynor was found guilty by court martial of murdering Cadell Parrell, of the British military police, on March 14.

Ireland again passed through a bloody week end. A constable was killed and several others were wounded in a fight between police-men and Republicans near Maam in County Galway.

A police inspector was killed and two policemen were wounded when a military lorry fired by mistake upon a police motor near Gormanstown.

Fighting lasted for nearly twenty-two hours at North Louth and South Armagh. A Sinn Feiner who had been captured was shot through the jaw while trying to escape.

Several constables and civilians were wounded in an explosion at Limerick.

BOWLING SCORES IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

The games on the St. Peter's Lyceum alleys Saturday evening in the National Bowling League were played with very much "pep" and enthusiasm by all players. The Phillies were defeated by the Pirates. The feature man of the evening was John Reis, who rolled an excellent score of 189 pins. Although the fast Reds have lost their grip on first place they are not discouraged but rather enthusiastic in regaining their lost title, but this seems not very prosperous looking, as the Giants keep a tight hold on the honor. Last Thursday evening, through an error, it was stated that the second match between the Braves and Pirates broke even, each winning one game. This was not so but instead the full honors of the evening should have gone to the Pirates.

The result of the first match Saturday between the Pirates and Phillies is as follows:

Phillies.
Paul J. Sass	88
Cornelius Fox	161
Joseph P. Zeeh	136
J. Bruck, Jr.	168
Andrew Juhl	93
Total	646

Pirates.
Louis Stock	155
Peter Spader	144
Frank Weiss	134
Robert Braze	143
Glenford Kraus	126
Total	702

The result of the second match, which was more interesting than the first, is as follows:

Giants.
John Benkert	131
The Rev. J. D. Ostermann	137
Casper Ketterer	178
John Reis	189
Robert McAndrew	134
Total	769

Braves.
Joseph Bruck	144
Joseph Koenig	139
John Winters	134
Henry Kelsch	123
John Carter	111
Total	651

Wednesday evening is looked forward to having some very exciting games in store, when the Giants will roll against the Pirates and the Phillies will cross lines with the Fast Reds.

The standing of the league is a very interesting factor as it shows the interest taken in the games and follows with the Giants in the lead:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Giants	7	1	.875
Pirates	5	3	.625
Reds	4	4	.500
Phillies	3	5	.375

Tagging all the Bases.

High cost of cereals makes no difference to Phil Douglas. He handed the Phillies a whole row of them and gave up but one hit.

33,000 fans cheered Douglas as the Giants won. They also cheered George Kelly, whose triple in the sixth drove home the only run. Home runs by Holloman and Hooper featured the White Sox-Tiger game. George Daess humbled the Sox.

Wildness on the part of Barnes and Outlaw of the Browns enabled the Indians to make it four straight against St. Louis.

Rube Adams kept Cincinnati hits well centered and the Pirates won another.

The Yankees' reputation as heavy hitters made no impression on Zachary, of the Senators, who kept five hits scattered.

A single to right field in the ninth by Charley Deal secured Maize and gave the Cubs a victory over the Cardinals.

Jimmy Johnston got four hits, one a double, in five times at bat, leading his brother Rodgers in the business of swatting the Braves into submission.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

The plumber man who yesterday was the object of your wrath is the first one that you call for. When you cannot take a bath. When the faucets all are leaking. Water's all too hot or cold. I pray thee spring some newer stuff—That plumber gag is old.

The first one that you call for When it's thirty-five below. When the sidewalk's icy covered. And the streets are full of snow. He's the very one you're wanting. When you are in a pinch. And then you turn and talk about The plumber's "lead-pipe cinch."

Hints on the H. C. L. A fellow can't afford to sit around much these days—it costs so much to half-sole your trousers.

Less than a decade ago our chief ambition was to leave school. After lambing some of the comely pedagogues of today; however, we decided that going back wouldn't be so bad. (Note to composing room foreman: Please set the foregoing in agate; our wife can't read fine print without getting a headache.)

The nickelplated castor oil spoon offered for the best example of base ingratitude, is hereby awarded to a New York World reporter, who was invited to a banquet by Mayor Hylan and then "played up" in his story the fact that booze was served. The city ed., we feel, should be held as an accessory before the fact.

When a woman gets sick and has to go to bed she arranges the scenery so that she looks pathetic and interesting. But let a man get sick he usually looks like something the cat brought in.

Sea Sick.

It is unnecessary to go to Atlantic City to get sea sick. Just stand around and listen to some sixteen-year-old girl shoot the hot air over the telephone to some candy-legged kid for an hour or two.

Ode to an Auto. My Bonnie bent over the gas tank. The height of the contents to see: He lighted a match to assist him. Oh, bring back my Bonnie to me!

All the world loves a lover, but laughs behind his back.

Tredell Wheeler admitted in court at Smithfield, N. C., that he had traded wires with another man, giving half a pint of whiskey and 25 cents to boot.

GARDEN TALK.

Recent discoveries concerning those mysterious but indispensable food substances called vitamins have emphasized the importance of leaf vegetables in the diet. Spinach has long been recognized as a most desirable food, being rich in those salts which keep the body in good order. It is especially recommended for children.

The home gardener will find spinach an easy crop to grow if his soil is fairly good. It should be planted early in the spring so that it may be in condition to use before hot weather begins. The common spinach cannot endure hot weather; a New Zealand spinach can, but that is another story.

Now, as soon as the soil can be worked, about an inch deep in rows twelve to fifteen inches apart. Sowing should be made in rows.

Kohl rabi is easy to grow and, if used at the right time, very easy to eat. The time to cook it is when it has reached the size of a hen's egg.

Later it becomes stringy and of too strong a flavor. Kohl rabi is a near relative of cabbage and cauliflower, but the edible part is not flowers or leaves, but the enlarged stem.

Sow the seeds about half an inch deep, two or three seeds to the inch. In drills fifteen inches apart. The plants should be thinned later to stand about three inches apart.
